STYLE SHEET FOR THE AUTHORS

OF SCHOLARLY REVIEWS

We would like to kindly ask you to comply with the following requirements:

Please use one spelling system for the entire paper: either British or American.

Text volume: The entire text should not be longer than 6 pages (including References).

Technical requirements:

- file type: .doc or .docx
- font type: Arial
- font size:
    - title 16 pt,
    - main text 12 pt,
- all margins: 2.5 cm
- justified text
- line space: 1.5

Please do not use spaces to justify the text nor to move single letters to the next line. Please do not number the pages. Footnotes should be used only for sharing remarks and thoughts with the readers, not for citing references. Try not to overuse footnotes.

Author's first and last name should be written in the upper left corner in bold letters (Arial, 12 pt). Please state your affiliation and country underneath.

The title of the review should include all bibliographic data of the reviewed publication, i.e. author's or editor's/editors' first and last names (in case of edited volumes – put the abbreviation eds. in the round brackets after the editors' names), the year of publication, its title, place of publication, publishing house, and number of pages. If the work was published as a part of series, please state the title of the series after the title of the reviewed publication.

Template:

Jan Kowalski

University of Wrocław / Poland

Díaz-Cintas, Jorge / Anderman, Gunilla (eds.) (2009): Audiovisual Translation. Language Transfer on Screen. Basingstoke (et al.): Palgrave Macmillan. 256 pp.

Jan Kowalski

University of Wrocław / Poland

Maitland, Sarah (2017): What Is Cultural Translation? (Bloomsbury Advances in Translation Series). London (et al.): Bloomsbury Publishing Plc. 177 pp.

The main text:

Please add a 6-point space to separate the sections. Do not use any indentations. Do not hyphenate words.

The review should include the following:

- a short description of the structure of the reviewed publication;
- the place of the publication within a given scholarly paradigm (stating which school/tradition it represents);
- a comprehensive discussion of the issues presented in the publication; and an explicit evaluation of the publication.

Please see the style sheet for the authors of scholarly articles for the guidelines regarding citations, emphasis in the main text, and list of references.

Under the list of references, please provide your work address, official e-mail address, and ORCID digital identifier. If you don't have this identifier, please generate it here: www.orcid.org.

Template:

Jan Kowalski

Uniwersytet Wrocławski
Instytut Filologii Germańskiej
Pl. Nankiera 15 B
50-140 Wrocław
jan.kowalski@uwr.edu.pl
ORCID: 0000-0001-……-6262